RecoverRx is a portable data recovery utility for digital cameras, SD, Compact Flash and memory cards, including multimedia players. It is designed to help you restore lost or deleted files from memory cards. Some of the reasons your files may be lost or deleted: • Software errors • Hardware failures • Media errors • Improper operation of your camera or multimedia player • Erasure or deletion of files in file systems like FAT and NTFS • Malware RecoverRx is a portable data recovery utility for digital cameras, SD, Compact Flash and memory cards, including multimedia players. It is designed to help you restore lost or deleted files from memory cards. • Some of the reasons your files may be lost or deleted: • Software errors • Hardware failures • Media errors • Improper operation of your camera or multimedia player • Erasure or deletion of files in file systems like FAT and NTFS • Malware • Other RecoverRx lets you recover deleted or corrupted files of any type from almost all card formats. Among other features, you can restore photos, documents, music, audio, video, and other types of files. • The program's main function is to help users find and retrieve files that have either been erased or lost because of other issues. It can scan the device for any such data that can be recovered and save them all on a different drive. • While the recovery process is underway, you are given an estimate of how much longer the job will take. You can also stop the operation at any time without losing the files that have already been recovered. • Search for specific types of files • Naturally, you may only be interested in restoring images, videos or documents. The application lets you specify which extensions should be included in the search in order to avoid recovering unwanted files. • However, you are not shown a preview of the files before the recovery process starts, so it is impossible to find specific items before beginning the operation. • Format and lock SD memory cards • Aside from recovering data, the program also enables you to clear the contents of memory cards and Storejet devices. You can either run a fast or complete format. • Lastly, if you own a Transcend memory card, this application allows you to encrypt it with a password using the RDF8 card reader.
